

Business Software to Glue local developers for Global Challenges Erideon's InterAct4 to revolutionize Software Development

Singapore, 26 July 2011 - Erideon Group, Singapore headquartered Software Company, today announced the global launch of InterAct4, a Business Process Management (BPM) software platform. InterAct4's strong functionalities will dramatically reduce the software development time-cycles and make solutions development easy with the help of highly visual based interface.

Dr Victor Soucik, President and CEO of Erideon, said, "With InterAct4 we are empowering companies to focus on solutions and not get overawed and lost in the software development process by itself. Businesses will now be able to focus on objectives, benefits and outcomes rather than systems and technologies, thus minimizing the dependence on technology and infrastructure, with InterAct4 handling much of the technical complexities."

In tune with the pre-existing prevalent software backbones of most companies, InterAct4 is able to stack multi-vendor, multi-part solutions and present them as a uniform system with a single user experience. These solutions can fully and partially be available on servers and cloud, allowing on-demand solutions provided by best-in-class partners to genuinely co-exist and complement each other.

In addition to strong functionalities, InterAct4 will change the existing models of software ownership. As opposed to hiring software development vendors or buying boxed solutions, organizations will pay after they start getting benefits from their deployments. Organizations' ownership cost will directly reflect the advantages received. They will also be able to add additional features or fresh solutions by simply 'plugging in' to an existing deployment.

Explaining the significance of InterAct4's launch from Singapore perspective, Dr Soucik, said, "InterAct4 will provide the unifying thread that will bring together many Singapore-grown software companies, and together take on the big global BPM/ERP players. InterAct4 will form the glue that will now make it possible for many companies to join hands and compete as one, weaving expertise of each niche player into a powerful single system."

Key features of InterAct4 include:

- InterAct4 is a cloud-optimized business process & collaboration platform that drives processes, business rules and information flow, leading to dramatic reductions in operating costs and time lags while maximizing strategic contribution from employees, customers, suppliers and other key stakeholders.

- InterAct4 provides a common foundation platform for most of popular application modules. The modules are easily plugged into InterAct4 foundation and allow for a free flow of data between modules.
- InterAct4 architecture separates the foundation engine, the applications and the data into different layers. Updates and upgrades to the respective layers of foundation engine or application can be done independently and effortlessly, without impact on the existing data.
- InterAct4 is subscription based, built on Software as a Service model (SaaS). All updates and upgrades in the system form part of the service package. Organizations need not worry about their software being outdated or even obsolete. There is neither software capex involved nor software development life cycle investment risk, since subscription begins only on delivery of the system. It is a Commercial-off-the-shelf (COTS) product that allows organizations to custom-configure processes best-suited for their needs with the built-in designers.
